Dustcheck Service >>>>

Unless your dust control systems are running efficiently you could be wasting money. You may be heading for a breakdown that will interrupt your business, bringing on all manner of additional expenses.

But more worrying than that, you could be putting your staff and the environment at risk, possibly attracting fines or even lawsuits.

To ensure that you comply with your COSHH, LEV, environmental and health & safety obligations, you have to ensure that an effective maintenance and service programme is in place. Our dedicated service division specialises, as you might expect, in keeping all types of dust control systems – not just our own manufacture – working reliably and to specification.

Most of our service contracts allow for a six-monthly inspection and report. You'll be visited by one of our highly trained, specialist engineers according to a programme that meets your exact needs. If you wish, we can carry out inspections during scheduled shut-downs or public holidays.

It's important to bear in mind that full legal compliance with the various governing acts may require more than inspection of dust collection plant. A typical example would be where the dust collector is connected to a local exhaust ventilation system. In cases such as this we can offer LEV-compliant surveys or any other programme tailored to your exact needs.

Where remedial work is required, you'll have a full and clear account of what needs to be done, and you'll have immediate access to the UK's leading dust control specialist to put things right.
